

The Disappearing Australians

The Disappearing Australians

At The Knight Alliance, our social conscience is expressed in our desire to protect, care and support. Our values are echoed in The Knightly Virtues of the medieval Knights. While there is no definitive list of these virtues the image of the Knight in shining armour evokes the perception of chivalry, protection, trust and justice.

Each Australia Day The Knight Alliance reflects on these ideals and endeavours to assist an Australian organisation that reflects one or all of these values.

This year The Knight Alliance has chosen to donate to the Foundation for Australia's Most Endangered Species (FAME); an organisation that focuses on protecting endangered Australian wildlife and the Australian environment most at risk.

Their vision is to prevent the ongoing extinction of Australian species and so far FAME's supporters have helped bring about more than 20 Australian species back from 'the brink'. But with over 300 endangered species in Australia we face an uphill battle; a battle we cannot hope to win without the support of people like you.

How do they do it?

FAME believes that a partnership approach is the best way to saving wildlife. FAME works with like-minded organisations, wildlife authorities and private landowners on projects that increase the likelihood of the survival of one or more endangered species.

But perhaps more importantly FAME connects people passionate about saving our 'disappearing Australians' with the best people working in this field. They do this by raising funds and effectively directing those funds to where the need is the greatest.
